Among these who called were liainly of Richmond's most prominent citatens. Many expressions of keen regret were heard over the death of so kind-hearted, charifable and public-spirited a lian, and many who had unconsciously, perhaps, been the recipionts of the generous heart which now lies cold in death, were among those who called to express their sorrow and sympathy.

There were few citizens in Richmond who did so many good and kind deeds simply because he loved to do good. He shrank from notoriety, He shunned very appearance of ostentation. His bounty was dispensed so quietly, so simply yet liberally, that few who anjoyed the benefits of his charity knew whence all. Milliniser was one of the most public.

Adjutant-General William Nalle May be Appointed Brigadier-General. Lieutenant Croxton to Muster In the Virginia Volunteers. From the Various Armories in the State,

Yesterday was a sort of an off day for the military in this city, for everybody seemed to be on waiting orders. There was nothing definite accomplished, and the numerous questions asked by those who are directly interested in the matter, as to when the Virginia troops would be moved to their point of centralization, had to remain unanswered for the lack had to remain unanswered for the lack of information. The officers of the Fair Grounds Company are still in the dark as to when the Federal Government desires to take charge of the grounds, known in the past as old Camp Lec.

A good deal has been said at different times in regard to the utter inadequacy of the appropriation of $10,000, which has been allowed during the past by the Legislature annually for the Virginia volunteers. The fact of the matter is that this amount has been far too small for the maintenance and support of the brigads. While there has been added an appropriation of about $15,000 each year gads. While there has been added an appropriation of about $15,000 each year in ordnance, stores, etc., from the Federal Government, the addition has been just sufficient to keep the various organizations equipped for the temporary needs. As it stands now there is hardly one military organization in this State that is sufficiently equipped to turn out at once. Many things are lacking, and there are only comparatively few service uniforms available for the various companies. Everything will, therefore, have to be supplied by the Federal Government, and it is likely that a week or ten days will elapse before these various supplies can be furnished.

Perhaps the most interesting piece of information that found its way into the

with the rank of first licutenant and pay of captain, not mounted; one surgeon, with the rank of major; one assistant surgeon, with the rank of first licuten-ant, and that of captain after five years' service; one chaplain, with the rank of captain and the pay of $1.500 per year. The non-commissioned staff of each re-giment is to consist of one sergeant-ma-jor and one quartermaster-sergeant. Each company is to have one captain, one first licutenant, and one second licuten-ant.

Each regiment will therefore hereafter have five field officers, five staff officers, two non-commissioned staff officers, and 1,008 men, or a grand total of 1,020 officers

While Governor Tyler has issued his Wille Governor Tyler has usued his proclamation calling on all volunteer organizations to hold themselves in readiness to be mustered into the services of the United States, yet the question arises how these troops are to be assembled. The Federal Government certainly will not muster them in before they are concentrated, but there are no means set aside for such a nurness.

THERE ARE NO FUNDS. THERE ARE NO FUNDS.

Other States have made liberal allowances for this emergency, but nothing of the kind has been done in Virginia. Unless the Governor sees his way clear to defray the expenses created by a concentration of the troops from any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, the various milliary organizations could not be brought together. Except the railroad companies should agree to furnish them free transportation.

VIRGINIA'S QUOTA.

The following are the infantry organizations of Virginia which finally will be mustered into the services, provided each one of them reaches the required strength of eighty-four men and three commissioned officers to a company:

The Second and Third Regiments will each be mustered in as a whole, the former in command of Colonel James C. Baker, with eight companies, the latter in command of Colonel James C. Baker, with eight companies, the latter in command of Colonel Grenville Gaines with nine companies; four companies from the First Regiment; ten companies from the Fourth Regiment; two companies from the Fourth Regiment; two companies from the Fourth Regiment, has also volunteeyed his services.

The three regiments to be supplied by the State of Virginia will therefore be commanded, as far as the present indications go, by Col. Baker, of the Second; Col. Gaines, of the Third, and Col. Hodges, of the Fourth Regiment.

To these troops will be added the two new companies just organized—one by Hon. Joseph E. Willard, of Fairfax, and the other by Hon. R. L. Miller, of Lynchburg known as Fitz. Lee Riffes.

CAVALRY AND ARTILLERY.

Should the three batteries in this State—the Howitzers, of this city; the Grimes Battery, of Portsmouth, and the Light Artillery, of Norfolk—be mustered into service, the men would most likely be used in the const-defence service, in connection with the rapid-tring guns in some of the forts.

Their own guns being more or less and the other by the state of the advisable to use of the roots.

of the forts.

Their own guns being more or less antiquated, it would not be advisable to use them as field artillery in a compaign.

Whether or not the Federal flovernment would call on any cavalry troop for active service would be questionable, and if this was to be done, such a troop would certainly be expected to supply its own horses, for which, however, the government might subsequently make some allowance.

Three weeks before the baby came I got her some Wine of Cardui. Her condition at that time was very serious. She was so weak she could hardly get up and down. But she commenced to grow stronger after taking Wine of Cardui and kept improving right up to con-

Wine of Cardui

Mrs. Ess' experience has been duplicated a thousand times. There is no medicine in the world that makes so many happy families-that does as much for women-as Wine of Cardui. It strengthens a girl as she steps over into womanhood. It fits the young married woman for every duty of wifehood and motherhood. When the turn of life approaches, Wine of Cardui is the right medicine to use. For all the cares and drains and weaknesses of women there is nothing so good as this wonderful medicine. Wine of Cardui can be purchased at any drug store and used quietly at home. Every delicate woman should procure it at once. It will make her strong and healthy. That will make her husband and children happy.
